

Eric C. Williams, PLLC, provides business consulting and legal services to Detroit area startups in sectors ranging from tech to food to real estate. The firm recognizes the unique needs of startups and importance of integrating business needs into legal solutions. Eric C. Williams, PLLC, provides legal services and business consulting services to startups, nonprofit, and established businesses. Practice areas include employment agreements, non-competition and non-solicitation agreements, employee handbooks and policies, social media and internet use policies, document retention policies, operating agreements and bylaws, partnership agreements, licensing and permitting, zoning, state or federal trademarks registration, copyright registration, trade secrets, contracts and other general business matters, including: real estate leases, supplier/vendor contracts, independent contractor agreements, client agreements, and non-disclosure agreements.

About Eric Williams: Since 2011, Eric C. Williams has directed the Wayne State University Law School Business and Community Law Clinic and is past director of the Program for Entrepreneurship and Business Law. He is a frequent speaker on startup issues and guest lecturer for local entrepreneurship programs. He previously worked in New York in private practice, as an associate at Winston & Strawn, LLP, and Nixon Peabody LLP. A native Detroit, Williams earned a bachelor's degree in English literature from the University of Michigan, a master of philosophy in international relations from Magdalene College at Cambridge University and a juris doctor from Columbia University School of Law.