

At The Dobrusin Law Firm, our experienced attorneys provide strategic counsel to protect a company's ideas and assets. Our boutique firm represents market leaders, including Fortune 500™ and emerging innovative companies around the globe, which often seek to accelerate business value through technology.

Familiar with the unique demands facing technology-oriented commerce, we work closely with in-house counsel and/or new product development and marketing teams to develop strategies for proactively using intellectual property to further client's business objectives. We are proud of our long-standing client relationships as well as our emphasis on strategic guidance and personalized service, accessible to clients at an unsurpassed value.

Concentrating in intellectual property law, with a focus on materials, chemical and mechanical patents, trademarks and copyright issues, our attorneys are also experienced in international and technology laws associated with protecting your intellectual portfolio.

Our firm handles all aspects of domestic and foreign patent and trademark matters, including preparing and filing patent, trademark and United States copyright applications; advising clients on issues of patentability, infringement, validity, registrability of trademarks, licensing, confidentiality, employment agreements, non-competition matters, and procurement of intellectual property rights. The firm also advises clients concerning the creation, development, enforcement, exploitation, protection and transfer of intellectual property rights.

We have ten (10) full-time patent attorneys. We also have two law clerks (law students with patent training and previous experience in industry). In addition, we have an attorney who has considerable automotive experience (having worked at a Tier 1 automotive supplier), and who practices primarily trademark and copyright law.
