

HamiltonAnderson

FIRM

Hamilton Anderson was founded in Detroit, Michigan in 1994 when architect Rainy Hamilton, Jr. partnered with landscape architect Kent Anderson. Together they founded Hamilton Anderson with a simple premise: as architect and landscape architect, and as two individuals from radically different beginnings, they would pool their talents, personalities and backgrounds to build a firm that values unity over uniformity.

Today, HAA has evolved with emerging, dynamic leaders whose design acumen stretches across a wide array of professional design services, including architecture, landscape architecture, planning, interiors and urban design. The firm includes a diverse group of design professionals working collaboratively to create compelling, inspirational and sustainable projects, to make a positive, lasting impact on our communities.

Our diversity in background, education and professional experience is blended with solid experience working on projects ranging from small scale city parks, to technologically sophisticated new arts high schools, regional master plans, and multi-billion dollar urban design plans. We are not specialists, but believers in the merit of well-informed, broad professional experience – that when brought together – will form the basis of superior design.
